

Upcoming Conference Announcement

SfN annual meeting - Neuroscience 2022

Neuroscience 2022 will take place in San Diego, CA on November 12–16, 2022.

Attend Neuroscience 2022 and celebrate the return of an in-person annual meeting. Engage with the neuroscience community face-to-face in sunny San Diego.

Each year, scientists from around the world congregate to discover new ideas, share their research, and experience the best the field has to offer. Attend so you can: present research, network with scientists, attend session and events, and browse the exhibit hall.

Join the nearly half a million neuroscientists from around the world who have propelled their careers by presenting an abstract at an SfN annual meeting — the premier global neuroscience event.

PRESENT YOUR RESEARCH

Share your science and gain valuable feedback on your work by presenting to a diverse, global audience. Abstract submission is June 1–15 — start planning now!

DISCOVER EMERGING SCIENCE

Learn from leading minds through hundreds of lectures, sessions, and events featuring experts from around the world and research from across the field.

EXPLORE THE LATEST TECHNOLOGIES AND SERVICES

Walk through the expansive Exhibit Hall to get an up-close look at leading-edge tools and resources for the neuroscience community.

ADVANCE YOUR CAREER

Attend workshops, socials, and other specialty events designed to connect you with leaders in the field, find new collaborators or mentors, explore education and job opportunities, and sharpen the skills essential in today's scientific workforce.

Registration Opens in July 2022
